Introduction:

Ms.
Madhu
Singhal

At the end of another successful year, I am proud to say that Mitra Jyothi has completed 29 years and is still growing strong. Each year has seen us surpass various milestones and with the constant support we hope to continue to do so.

In achieving our goal of inspiring and enabling the visually impaired, we are blessed to have the support of our donors, volunteers, staff and interns. Sapient and Hans Foundation along with other corporates such as PayPal, as well like Mentor Graphics, Informatica and Carlson Wagonlit have continued their trust in our organization and many individual donors have also joined us in this journey. Their support is not only financial but extends to their time, energy and emotional contribution.

Commenting on certain developments this year, I am very happy that we could modify our website and made it more accessible through a clear communication about our organization, values and programs. We collaborated with NIIT foundation and our computer students are able to certify themselves with NIIT and Mitra Jyothi. The DFI (Daisy Forum of India) board meeting was also hosted in Mitra Jyothi in the month of march. The existing programs continued, and I am happy to say that we got a lot of new volunteers this year owing to the growing awareness in our society.

This year, I was fortunate to have received a National award however I owe this privilege to the great efforts of the team of Mitra Jyothi. I believe that the future of Mitra Jyothi will be paved by the members of our team that are here and those that join us as they will lead us into this era with their valuable ideas and perspectives.

My sincere thanks to all the donors, volunteers, staff and beneficiaries for their continuous trust in Mitra Jyothi. I look forward to the same support in future.

Thank you.

About Mitra Jyothi

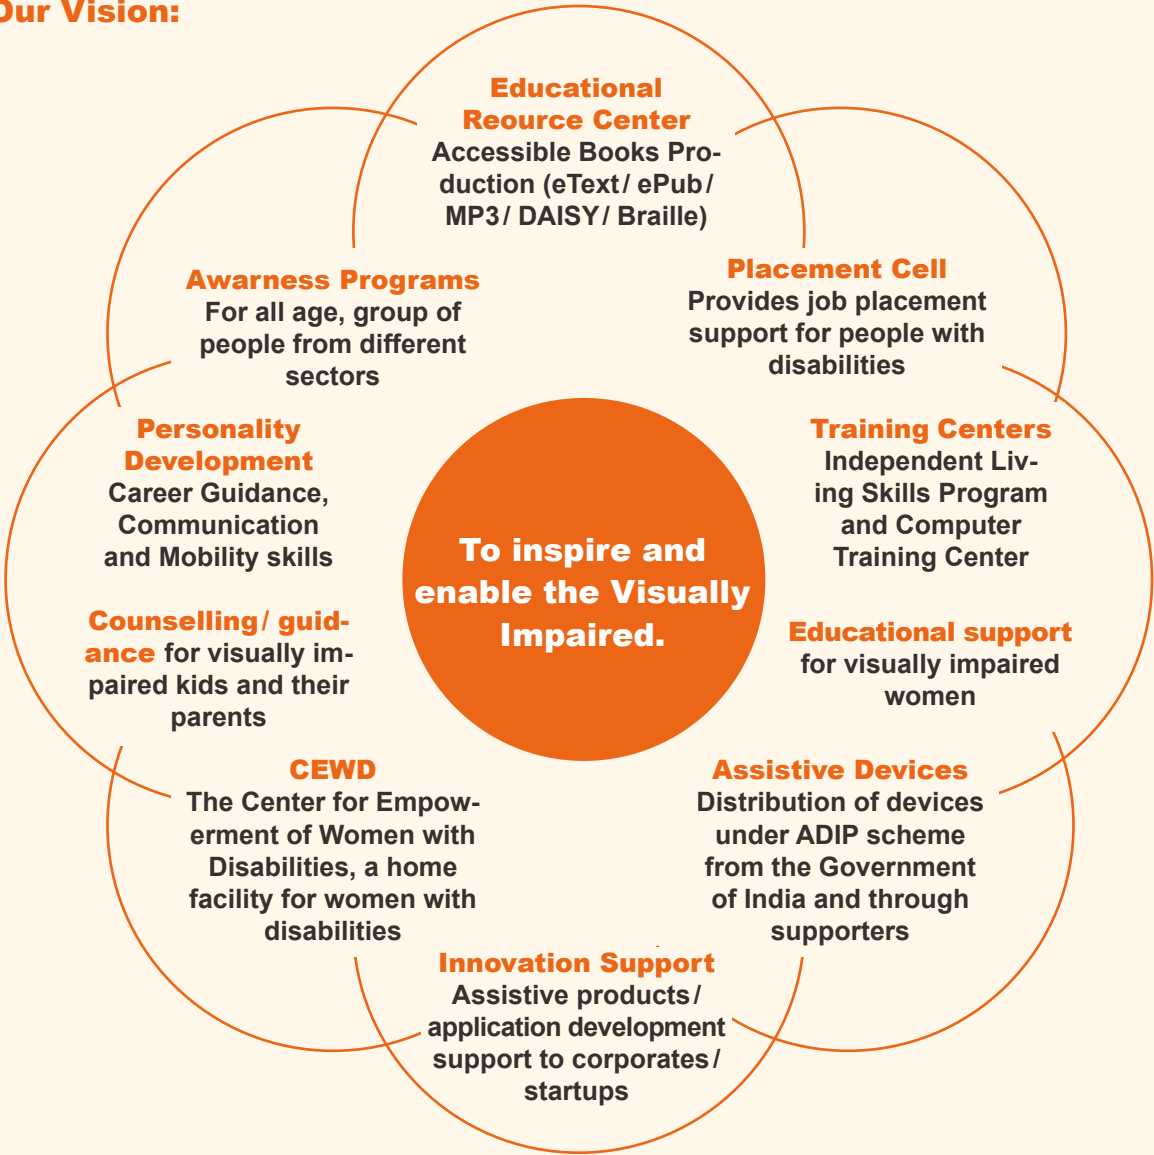

Our Mission:

Mitra Jyothi’s mission is to empower people with vision impairment so that they lead independent and dignified lives through education, training, counseling, communication and technology and be better integrated into their families and mainstream society at large.

Being located in Bangalore and helping more than 50.000 persons with disabilities through different means to lift themselves into a more independent life over the past 29 years, Mitra Jyothi is a nonprofit organization equipping visually impaired with the tools and knowledge they need to be better integrated in our society.

Mitra Jyothi is run under the able guidance of Ms. Madhu Singhal (National Awardee) who has accomplished many milestones not only in India but also abroad despite her own disability.

Our Vision:

Review of the year.

Highlights of the year

The end of financial year 2018-2019 is a great reason to look back and review the highlights of our work at Mitra Jyothi.

Our computer courses are NIIT Foundation certified

After a rigorous evaluation in September 2018, we are proud that all three computer courses driven by Mitra Jyothi are now certified by NIIT foundation. NIIT foundation conducted a training for our trainers and certified them afterwards. This certificate will add more value for our students when they move forward to new career opportunities.

Pilot project: Cooking classes for working women on weekends

In the last quarter in 2018 we conducted cooking classes for working women on Saturdays. With these classes Mitra Jyothi is able to enable visually impaired to not only rely on food delivery but also learn about the basic aspects of kitchen set up, maintenance, lunch and breakfast items and recipes. After the positive feedback there are more classes planned in the upcoming year.

Signature training for Mitra Jyothi students started

Many visually impaired people have never learnt a signature. Even after completing a degree this area was still unfocussed. With our newly implemented training with Ms. Anupama and Ms. Dilshan the students learn writing the alphabets and learn their signature.

Self defence training for Mitra Jyothi students with support from Chesire Disability Trust team

Once again we conducted a full fledge self defence training through the experts with Chesire Disability Trust support. The core aim of the training was to teach the students to be safe and protect themselves, which is very important especially for people with disabilities. Due to the positive feedback we are planning these trainings on a regular basis.

Interactive session on RPD Act 2016

Since the implementation of the Right to Persons with Disability (RPD) Act 2016 disabilities are now categorized into 21 instead of only 7 types. This helps to create more specific policies and support for people with disabilities. To hand over this knowledge also to our beneficiaries, Mitra Jyothi arranged a detailed interactive session twice about this topic in the year.

New embossing technologies encourage inclusion of visually impaired in society

Another highlight this year is the introduction of two new embossing technologies that combine normal alphabets and braille. To support the inclusion of visually impaired in our society, Mitra Jyothi is now able to either emboss braille on ink prints or transparent PVC stickers that can be placed on business cards or in books.

Launch of audio version of English-English-Kannada dictionary

This dictionary was long awaited from many visually impaired across Karnataka. We are proud that we could launch the dictionary this year in March and we are sure it will be a great gift for all our beneficiaries.

Launch of new audio magazine “Industry Mitra”

Mitra Jyothi created a new audio magazine in English that covers one special industry each time. The first edition of this magazines focusses on banking industry. This will give all visually impaired another opportunity to be informed about every topic of interest in future.

All of this could not have been achieved without the support of our volunteers, corporate and individual supporters, partners, philanthropic organizations, our dear friends, well-wishers and all the staff of Mitra Jyothi.

Few to name who visited this year – VIBGYOR, Bachpan, Aurinko, Banjara Academy, St. Johns Medical College, St. Aloysius, Prakriya Green Wood and Common Purpose trainers. These are great opportunities for Mitra

Jyothi to raise awareness in young minds and next generations.

Field trips to rural areas

Mitra Jyothi team conducted a couple of field trips especially to remote villages like Hoovina Hadagalli, in Bellary district and with NAB to Hassan, Alur and Holenarsipura. This helped us to get couple of beneficiaries for our programs, spread awareness about the opportunities available for persons with disabilities.

Support for many companies as a research center

Many research centers value Mitra Jyothi also a source for their product development. This year, organizations like Convo, Facebook, Microsoft, Trestle Lab and Mindtree visited us and had in depth interactions around their work.

A portrait of Vaishali, a success story

Vaishali

Imagine being perfectly sighted and one day losing it all to a disease. Nobody knows this plight better than Vaishali, the second of six children born to a KSRTC bus driver and a homemaker in rural Karnataka. After being afflicted with Typhoid and not receiving timely medical care, she lost her vision when she was just two years old. Scared for their daughter, her parents refused to send her to school and kept her confined at home till she turned ten. At an age when her peers spent most of their time playing outside, Vaishali was at home, feeling lonely and isolated. Things started getting better when her parents finally enrolled her into a residential school for blind girls.

After schooling, she enrolled herself into the Basic Computer Training course at Mitra Jyothi, where they recognized her potential and decided to support her College education as well. They enrolled her to study Arts at the nearest Government PUC and provided her with food and accommodation. From getting her a Daisy player to record classes and arranging mentors to guide her, to training her on Mobility skills so she could walk to college and encouraging her to participate in the Pinkathon, Mitra Jyothi made sure she received the educational support and access to resources she needed to do her best. She also made use of the wide range of audio books and Braille books available on the premises to prepare for her PU exams and ended up topping her class with a whopping 92.6%!

Imagine her family's delight on hearing the news- they distributed sweets to all the households in the village, and the entire village gathered together for a celebration. There's no stopping Vaishali now. She aims to do her Masters in Arts and become a lecturer. Her parents who were scared to let her out of the house when she was a kid, couldn't be prouder.

Awards and recognitions

Mitra Jyothi students are sporty!

Mitra Jyothi students participated in Marathon, Pinkathon, TCS run, NAB Women Day awareness run. This shows once more how much fun and enlight end it can be, to be part of these kind of events.

26 team members from Mitra Jyothi participated in Pinkathon Bangalore 2019 and were podium finishers too! Ms. Aneyamma came 1st, Ms. Namita came 2nd and Ms. Gayathri came 3rd. Mitra Jyothi beneficiaries are successful!

We are very proud to announce that two of our students got awarded as Best students of the year in their college – Vaishali and Aneyamma! They are students of the Government PU independent college, Agara. Prior to joining the college they had undergone. Computer Training at Mitra Jyothi. At Mitra Jyothi we identify few deserving girls every year and help them with their education by getting admission in near by schools/colleges with the help of our supporters. In addition we provide food and accommodation as well during the tenure. The college recognized them with an award for their outstanding performance in academics and in extra curricular activities. It's a college for regular students. Our kids were evaluated in comparison with the other sighted kids.

Ms. Madhu got awarded once more with the National Award as Best Role Model!

Ms. Madhu is an outstanding personality and her extraordinary engagement towards the enablement of Visually Impaired people once more got rewarded with the National Award. We are honored to say that this is already the second time for Ms. Madhu and a great appreciation of her ambition and vision at Mitra Jyothi.

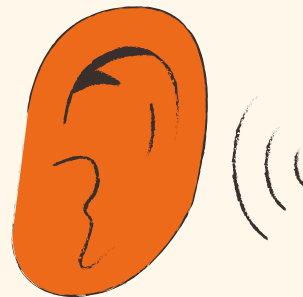

Besides the National Award, ISRO felicitated Ms. Madhu on occasion of International Women's day, as one of three unique women selected by ISRO team.

The Garden City Univeristy felicitated Ms. Madhu as well and published Ms. Madhu's interview.

Visually impaired in a workspace

I learned to use my hearing sense better. Information and voices I listened to, I can easily remember. Sometimes even better than everyone else!

In office I use a software that reads out content on my computer screen. There are also many apps on my phone that talk to me and help me navigate.

My touch is a very helpful tool I can use. I perfected it and it is much more sensible than for most people with vision.

Now, I can even have my own laptop that shows information in Braille instead on screen. Also a signature guide helps me to keep my signature in place.

I use my creativity to visualize my environment, objects and people. That helps me to move around and not get lost.

In my mind I often design a small map of things around me. That helps me to find my way to work and also around the office. If you think about it, it's surprising how often we are all walking the same routes, isn't it?

There are so many assistive aids that help making my day much more accessible. I am not afraid to try new innovations and products, it can be fun, too.

Technology allows me to experience much more than a few years ago. For my commute to my workspace, I can book a special Uber or Ola and my intelligent cane helps me to find always the right route in unknown areas.

Insights
organisation.

Further highlights of the year are always the many interactions and cooperations with other organizations. Training and education for our staff members as well as our volunteers is key to a sustainable and fruitful work.

We are proud that at Mitra Jyothi people from different backgrounds work together as visitors, staff and volunteers. A common understanding and communication therefore are important for our daily work. By keeping this in mind we organized a soft skills workshop for our staff with support from Accenture team, which was very helpful.

Workshops and trainings for our employees

Since we also work with speech and hearing impaired women, we arranged sign language training for staffs with support from Chesire team. Ms. Suma from Chesire team accepted to extend support without any hesitation when we asked. She trained our staffs for almost 3 months with Ms. Roopa and Mr. Darshan's support. We are sure this will help our staff to communicate better with people in need.

Sometimes it can be difficult to understand how to guide and interact with visually impaired. Therefore, Mitra Jyothi organized for all employees a mobility training, where staff was blindfolded and could experience first hand which aspects are important while dealing with visually impaired. This was conducted by Ms. Sundareswari, our expert mobility trainer. She has trained thousands of visually impaired people over two decades in Mitra Jyothi.

Rekha Dass, a memorable person

Mrs. Rekha Dass had been associated with Mitra Jyothi joined as a volunteer in 1993 and since then her contribution to Mitra Jyothi has been priceless for more than 25 years.

Impressed by her dedication and sincerity Ms. Madhu requested Rekha to be a trustee at Mitra Jyothi, Rekha gracefully agreed and supported Mitra Jyothi as a pillar until her last breath. Rekha has recorded hundreds of books in English for our Talking Book Library – since the times of cassette recording to today's MP3 files. She was always available for any kind of support that was needed by Mitra Jyothi with her utmost dedication and diligence and an inspiration for all our volunteers and employees.

In memory of her, we have established an endowment fund with the help of her family and Mitra Jyothi supporters. We are proud to share that this year we could enable five visually impaired girls under our Life Skills program. We will continue Mrs. Rekha's legacy and continue to support visually impaired with our full passion.
